Static Moduli

The static and dynamic moduli of the same rock may significantly differ from each other. The main reason is likely to be the difference in the deformation amplitude between the dynamic and static experiments.

In the dynamic wave propagation experiment the deformation is about $10^{-7}$ while static deformation may reach $10^{-2}$. 